2. INTRODUCTION AND LEGAL FRAMEWORK

- 2.1 This Agreement sets out the contractual terms and conditions under which RocketX Namibia will provide the Client with access to trade Synthetic Contracts for Difference (“Synthetic CFDs”), which are not recognised or regulated as financial products or instruments under any applicable financial sector legislation. However, in the absence of clear regulation and taking a conservative stance, RocketX Namibia considers Synthetic CFDs to be over-the-counter (OTC) derivative products unless the South African Regulator officially confirms otherwise.
- 2.2 The pricing and valuation of these instruments are generated using the proprietary methodologies and algorithms of RocketX Namibia, the issuer of the Synthetic Instruments.
- 2.3 This Agreement applies exclusively to Synthetic CFDs and does not apply to:
 - 2.3.1 Contracts for difference or other derivatives that reference real-world market data, exchange-traded instruments, or interbank prices; or
 - 2.3.2 Any investment, security, or financial product regulated under legislation applicable to exchange-traded or market-linked derivatives, unless otherwise expressly stated in writing by RocketX Namibia
- 2.4 By entering into this Agreement, the Client confirms that they act as principal and for their own account, and not as agent, nominee, trustee, or in any other representative capacity for a third party.
- 2.5 The Client appoints RocketX Namibia to execute Synthetic CFD transactions strictly on an execution-only basis, pursuant to the Client’s specific instructions, and without discretion, portfolio management, or fiduciary obligations on the part of RocketX Namibia.
- 2.6 The Client acknowledges that the Synthetic Instruments are executed as a bilateral, principal-to-client transaction between the Client and RocketX Namibia.
- 2.7 The Client further acknowledges and agrees that RocketX Namibia:
 - 2.7.1 Will not provide investment advice, recommendations, opinions, guidance, or endorsements in relation to any Synthetic CFD transaction;
 - 2.7.2 Will not approve, assess the merits of, or otherwise opine on the Client’s investment decisions; and
 - 2.7.3 Will not act in any capacity that creates a fiduciary relationship with the Client.
- 2.8 In compliance with the Financial Markets Act, 2012 South Africa, RocketX Namibia will conduct an appropriateness assessment prior to activating a trading account to determine whether the Client has the necessary experience and understanding to trade Synthetic CFDs in line with South African Regulatory Requirements and Industry Best Practice. Written feedback will be provided to the Client electronically or otherwise, and RocketX Namibia reserves the right to decline account activation where trading in Synthetic CFDs is assessed as inappropriate for the Client's circumstances.

- 2.9 RocketX Namibia may provide general factual information about Synthetic CFDs, their mechanics, and associated risks, but such information is not to be construed as advice, recommendation, or solicitation to enter into any transaction.
- 2.10 The Client understands that Synthetic CFDs:
- 2.10.1 Are priced using proprietary or model-based algorithms that do not reference actual market prices;
 - 2.10.2 May exhibit pricing behaviour materially different from CFDs linked to underlying market data; and
 - 2.10.3 Are traded exclusively with RocketX as counterparty, with no secondary market or external liquidity
 - 2.10.4 Hedging mechanisms will be initiated on this product at RocketX Namibia's sole discretion

3 DURATION

3.1 Commencement

- 3.1.1 This Agreement shall commence on the date on which RocketX notifies the Client, in writing or electronically, that the Client's trading account for Synthetic CFDs has been approved and activated ("Effective Date").

3.2 Duration

- 3.2.1 Unless otherwise stipulated in this Agreement or required by Applicable Laws, this Agreement shall remain in force until terminated by either Party in accordance with the provisions below.

3.3 Termination by the Client

- 3.3.1 The Client may terminate this Agreement by giving RocketX at least seven (7) calendar days' written notice. The Client may also terminate this Agreement with immediate effect if RocketX commits a material breach of this Agreement that is not remedied within five (5) Business Days after receiving written notice of such breach.

3.4 Termination by RocketX

RocketX may terminate this Agreement immediately, without prior notice, if:

- 3.4.1 RocketX reasonably determines that continuing the Agreement poses a material regulatory, legal, or reputational risk;

- 3.4.2 RocketX suspects or has evidence of abuse, market manipulation, fraud, money laundering, terrorist financing, or breach of this Agreement by the Client;
- 3.4.3 The Client becomes insolvent, is provisionally or finally liquidated, or fails to meet margin calls or other funding obligations; or
- 3.4.4 Required to do so by Applicable Laws, regulations, or directives from a competent authority.

Upon termination:

- 3.5.1 All open Synthetic CFD positions shall be closed by RocketX at the prevailing price determined in accordance with its proprietary synthetic pricing methodology at the time of closure;

3.6 No Prejudice to Rights

- 3.6.1 Termination of this Agreement shall be without prejudice to any rights, remedies, obligations, or liabilities of either Party that have accrued prior to the date of termination.

4 PRICING ENGINE

- 4.1 RocketX utilises a proprietary model-based pricing methodology to generate simulated prices for Synthetic CFDs.
- 4.2 The pricing methodology applies quantitative finance techniques, which may include stochastic modelling, volatility-based adjustments, range-bound simulations, and trend or momentum algorithms, in order to produce a proprietary synthetic price feed.
- 4.3 Synthetic CFD prices are not sourced from, linked to, or reflective of any regulated exchange, interbank market, or real-world financial instrument. They are created solely for the purposes of facilitating transactions between the Client and RocketX.
- 4.4 Bid and Ask prices for each Synthetic CFD are determined by applying a fixed or variable spread to a model-generated mid-price, which may be dynamically adjusted based on market conditions, risk parameters, or RocketX's internal pricing policies.
- 4.5 RocketX is solely responsible for maintaining, integrating, and publishing the synthetic price feed to the Client via the Platform, and may update, suspend, or modify the pricing methodology from time to time in its sole discretion, subject to Applicable Laws and disclosure obligations.

- 4.6 The Client acknowledges that, due to the nature of model-generated pricing, Synthetic CFD prices may behave materially differently from prices of comparable products linked to actual market data, and may experience movements, gaps, or patterns that are unique to the proprietary model.

11.3.8 Trading on Erroneous Prices: knowingly or recklessly trading on manifestly incorrect or stale prices displayed on the Platform.

11.4.1.1 Breach this Agreement;

11.4.1.2 Result from a pricing or technical error;

11.4.1.3 Were executed during a period of abnormal Platform behaviour; or 11.4.1.4 Involve any prohibited trading practice described in Clause 10.3.

11.4.2.3 Freezing or suspending the Trading Account pending investigation.

11.5 Client Responsibility for Orders

11.5.1 The Client is solely responsible for monitoring open positions, pending orders, and margin levels at all times.

11.5.2 All trades executed via the Client's login credentials will be deemed authorised by the Client, regardless of who initiated them.

11.5.3 RocketX Namibia is not liable for losses arising from:

11.5.3.1 Failure to monitor the Trading Account;

11.5.3.2 Inability to access the Platform; or

11.5.3.3 Delays in order placement or execution due to internet connectivity, device performance, or third-party service issues.

11.6 Suspension of Trading

- 11.6.1 RocketX Namibia may, at its sole discretion and without prior notice, suspend trading in any instrument or for any Client if it determines that continued trading may present a legal, regulatory, operational, or reputational risk.

12 TECHNOLOGY PLATFORM DISCLAIMER

- 12.1 The Client acknowledges that the Synthetic Instruments are hosted and operated via a third-party technology platform, maintained and managed by an independent software vendor. This vendor is contractually mandated to ensure that the generation of price simulations and the operation of related trading mechanisms are performed autonomously and without influence from RocketX Namibia, its affiliates, or any intermediary acting on its behalf. This independence is a key feature intended to minimise conflicts of interest and ensure that price movements and trade conditions are determined solely by the internal simulation logic of the platform, free from any external instructions or discretionary overrides.
- 12.2 While RocketX Namibia and any duly appointed and authorised financial services provider (“FSP”) or authorised intermediary acting on its behalf, exercises due diligence in the selection and oversight of its third-party service providers, the Client understands and agrees that technical failures, outages, or other performance issues on the platform may impact the Client’s ability to trade or may result in financial loss. Neither RocketX Namibia nor any duly appointed and authorised financial services provider (“FSP”) or authorised intermediary acting on its behalf, warrant the uninterrupted availability or error-free functionality of the platform and shall not be held liable for any losses or damages arising from such failures, save where such loss is directly attributable to gross negligence or wilful misconduct on the part of RocketX Namibia nor any duly appointed and authorised financial services provider (“FSP”) or authorised intermediary acting on its behalf.
- 12.3 The Client accepts that participation in the Synthetic Instrument environment inherently involves reliance on digital systems, and that all trading activity is subject to the risks associated with software performance, connectivity, and system integrity.

13 Undertaking Regarding System Integrity, Access Controls, and Audit Rights

- 13.1 All parties involved in the creation, distribution, operation, or facilitation of Synthetic Instruments, including but not limited to RocketX Namibia, any duly appointed and authorised financial services provider (“FSP”) or authorised intermediary acting on its behalf its representatives, affiliates, service providers, intermediaries, and the independent software vendor responsible for the simulation platform; expressly undertake and warrant that no individual or entity shall be granted access to the platform or its pricing engine for the purposes of manipulating, influencing, or otherwise directing the generation of synthetic prices or trading conditions in a manner that could intentionally disadvantage Clients or result in artificial losses.

- 13.2 Given that the pricing of Synthetic Instruments is generated via an internal simulation engine and cannot be externally benchmarked against real-world data, all parties acknowledge that this structure introduces a heightened compliance and Treating Customers Fairly (TCF) risk. As such, each party undertakes to uphold the independence and integrity of the simulation process and agrees that under no circumstances shall any mechanism, instruction, or override be permitted which would result in trades being unfairly skewed, terminated, or manipulated to force Client losses.
- 13.3 To support these commitments, RocketX Namibia and any duly appointed and authorised financial services provider ("FSP") or authorised intermediary acting on its behalf reserves the right, at its discretion or upon reasonable suspicion, to initiate or commission audits of the platform's access controls, simulation parameters, and administrative functions, including third-party technical audits. Refusal to cooperate with such audits or any evidence of manipulation or improper access shall constitute a material breach of this Agreement.
- 13.4 Any breach of this clause, including direct or indirect facilitation of unfair system access or simulation interference, shall give rise to contractual liability on the part of the offending party for any resulting Client losses and may result in immediate termination of the relationship, regulatory reporting, and legal action.

14 VALUATION AND DISPUTES

- 14.1 Synthetic CFDs are valued using the Synquants mid-price at the time of the relevant event.
- 14.2 All disputes shall first be referred to RocketX Namibia's internal complaints handling.
- 14.3 If unresolved, disputes may be referred to arbitration seated in Cape Town, unless urgent relief is required.
- 14.4 Retail Clients may also submit complaints to the FAIS Ombud.
- 14.5 RocketX Namibia's archived pricing and trade logs will be final and binding.
- 14.6 We have a formal "Dispute Resolution Procedure Policy" on the website for Clients to lodge disputes.

- 14.7 If a dispute between the Parties arises regarding a discrepancy, this Agreement or its execution, including any breaches, the Parties will attempt to resolve it through mutual discussions within 30 calendar days of the dispute arising, or any mutually agreed-upon extension.
- 14.8 If the dispute remains unresolved after the mentioned period, either Party may formally declare a dispute, which will be resolved through arbitration as outlined below.
- 14.9 An Arbitrator with at least 10 years' experience as a practising advocate will be chosen by mutual agreement of the Parties. In the absence of agreement within 10 business days of declaring a dispute, the Chairperson of the Cape Bar Council (or its successors) will appoint the Arbitrator.
- 14.10 If there is a dispute regarding whether the matter in question primarily involves accounting, legal, or another subject, the Chairperson of the Cape Bar Council (or its successors) will make the determination, and this decision will be binding.
- 14.11 The arbitration will take place in Cape Town, following the procedures set by the Arbitrator. These may be less formal and strict than usual proceedings, but if a Party is domiciled outside of Namibia, the proceedings will still adhere to the Arbitration Act, 1965 (as amended) or the International Arbitration Act, 2017 (as amended).
- 14.12 The Arbitrator is authorised to: Make fair and equitable decisions based on the circumstances and the Agreement's objectives.
- 14.13 Issue awards, including specific performance, injunctions, damages, penalties, or other remedies as deemed appropriate, while considering the Agreement's provisions.
- 14.14 Arbitration will be conducted as quickly as possible, aiming for completion within 30 calendar days after its initiation.
- 14.15 This clause represents the Parties' irrevocable consent to arbitration proceedings and prohibits any Party from withdrawing from or contesting this clause during arbitration.
- 14.16 The Parties agree that any arbitration award:
- 14.16.1 Will be final and binding.
 - 14.16.2 Will be implemented immediately.
 - 14.16.3 May be made an Order of Court.

15 RISK DISCLOSURE

15.1 High-Risk Nature of Synthetic Instruments

- 15.1.1 The Client acknowledges and understands that trading Synthetic Contracts for Difference ("Synthetic Instruments") is highly speculative and carries a substantial risk of loss. The leveraged nature of these instruments means that even a small change in price can result in a disproportionately large loss. The Client accepts that they may lose their entire invested capital, and RocketX Namibia is not liable for such losses. Trading these instruments is only suitable for sophisticated investors with a high-risk tolerance who fully comprehend the risks involved and can afford to lose their entire investment.

15.1.2 The Client further acknowledges that the Synthetic Instrument is designed to simulate the mechanics of a traditional Contract for Difference (CFD), including volatility and other behavioural market characteristics. However, the pricing and performance of the Synthetic Instrument are not derived from, nor do they reflect, real-world market data or external financial indices. Instead, values are generated using a Random Number Generator (RNG)-based engine, which applies predetermined algorithms to simulate certain market-like movements and trading conditions. These simulations incorporate only selected aspects of market behaviour and do not aim to replicate actual price formation, liquidity, spread dynamics, news reactions, or full market microstructure.

15.1.3 Accordingly, the Client accepts that these Synthetic Instruments are artificial simulations, and while they may appear similar to CFDs in their structure or responsiveness, they do not represent, mirror, or track any real-world assets. The performance of a Synthetic Instrument should therefore not be relied upon for purposes of hedging, speculation based on actual market movements, or as a proxy for real-world financial exposure. The Client acknowledges that the simulated environment may produce outcomes that deviate materially from what would occur in actual trading markets, and that this nature of abstraction introduces distinct and inherent limitations in predictability and strategy effectiveness.

15.2 Counterparty and Execution Risk

15.2.1 The Client understands and accepts that RocketX Namibia is the exclusive counterparty to every transaction involving Synthetic Instruments. This means that all trades are executed on a bilateral, principal-to-principal basis directly with RocketX Namibia. The Client agrees that there is no third-party market, exchange, or clearing house involved in the execution or settlement of these transactions. Consequently, the Client's ability to trade these instruments is entirely dependent on RocketX Namibia's continued solvency, operational stability, and willingness to act as a counterparty. There may be no external hedging, arbitrage, or offsetting possibilities available to the Client due to the nature of this instrument. This model exposes the Client to counterparty risk, and the Client accepts that in the unlikely event of RocketX Namibia's insolvency or failure, they may not be able to close their positions or recover their funds.

15.3 Issuer's Regulatory Compliance Risk

15.3.1 While RocketX Namibia aims to ensure its products comply with all applicable regulations within South Africa, the Client acknowledges that the regulatory status and compliance of the Synthetic Instruments are fundamentally dependent on any involved intermediaries' adherence to the definitions and standards set out in its agreements. Any failure by intermediaries to maintain the necessary compliance or documentation could result in the withdrawal or suspension of these products, which may affect your open positions and capital.

15.4 Acknowledgement of Full Risks

15.4.1 The Client hereby confirms that they have received, read, and fully understood the comprehensive explanation of all risks associated with trading Synthetic Instruments as detailed in this Agreement and its Annexures, including but not limited to the full Risk Disclosure Document (Annexure A). By accepting this Agreement, the Client acknowledges that they have been given ample opportunity to seek independent financial, legal, and other professional advice, and they accept the full scope of risks described herein.

16 CONFIDENTIALITY

16.1 Both parties shall maintain confidentiality of personal, commercial and technical information obtained during this relationship.

16.2 This clause survives termination.

17.5.1 Unless otherwise stated in the notice, amendments will take effect on the date of publication or transmission of the notice, whichever occurs first.

17.5.2 Continued use of the Services or the Trading Platform after the effective date of any amendment will constitute the Client's deemed acceptance of the revised terms.

17.6 Client's Right to Object

17.6.1 If the Client does not agree to an amendment, they must notify RocketX Namibia in writing within seven (7) calendar days of receipt of the notice.

18.2.8 Claims related to the accuracy, dependability, or timeliness of information on the Website.

18.2.9 Claims related to any form of support provided by us.

18.3 Limited Liability:

- 18.3.1 Regardless of the aforementioned Exclusions of Liability, our responsibility under this Agreement will be restricted to direct losses incurred by the Client concerning the relevant trade where such liability arises.

19.4 Conflict with Local Laws

If the Client accesses the Services from outside Namibia, the Client is solely responsible for ensuring compliance with any applicable local laws. RocketX Namibia makes no representation that the Services are appropriate or lawful for use in any particular jurisdiction.

20 FORCE MAJEURE

- 20.1 Neither Party will be liable for any failure or delay in performing its obligations under this Agreement if such failure or delay is caused by events beyond its reasonable control, including but not limited to acts of God, natural disasters, war, terrorism, civil unrest, governmental actions, regulatory intervention, failure of telecommunications or internet services, power outages, equipment or software failures, or market suspension ("Force Majeure Event").
- 20.2 The affected Party must notify the other Party as soon as reasonably practicable, and performance will be suspended for the duration of the Force Majeure Event

- 21.4 Failure or delay by any Party in exercising any right, power, or privilege under this Agreement will not be considered a waiver or relinquishment of that Party's right to enforce any provision or right in any other instance.
- 21.5 This Agreement represents the entire understanding between the Parties, excluding subsequent Definitive Agreements. It supersedes all prior agreements and representations, whether written or oral, except for fraudulent misrepresentations.
- 21.6 Each provision of this Agreement is independent, and if any part is declared void, invalid, or unenforceable by a competent court, it will not affect the validity of the remaining provisions.
